Race No 14 --- Saturday 3 January 2009.

Ken Collins won the first days racing in 2009 making it his twelfth so far from fourteen to date, in the other two he was second. All this despite taking a wrong course and being inside the mark a couple of times, he now leads the series by a nautical mile. Peter Pritchard had the chance to improve his position but tried to finish having only completed the triangle, in other words he was a sausage short. John Whateley starting with a self imposed handicap of thirty seconds sailed through to take third on the day. Racing was delayed for a while with numerous boats trying to guide Richard's boat to the shore short of battery power. Andy Rushton watched the days sailing and should be with us again soon when he gets his new 2.4 transmitter.

The results follow.
